

WELCOME TO W3MAGAZINE

W3 mag brings you a mix of New Technology, profiles on innovative New Zealanders, ,movie reviews, game reviews, free stuff and the Dodgy Top 30 web sites, plus loads of interesting articles!

Where can you get W3 MAG???

Check out the book stands in Whitcoulls, Paper Plus and any leading book store, or head on over to our subscription page and subscribe online, the current issue will be in your letterbox in just a few days!

TOP STORY

World Exclusive! FONE-TANGO

“The backup service is great but the really sexy thing about what we’re doing is the social networking side of things”.

SimWorks was established in October '01 (although they didn't incorporate the company until mid '02). They demonstrated a prototype product to potential investors in September '02 who were totally blown away by the response, they were oversubscribed within 24 hours. Initially it was just 2 friends starting out however, with some investors on board, they set about hiring a few more bodies to cope with the demand and create world first technology. W3 Profiles this innovative Kiwi company and its cell phone technology which is not only new to NZ, but to the world as well, click here to find out a little more about fonetango or read the full profile in W3MAG

IN THIS ISSUE

Space Race - the Sequel:

The Space race is heating up as the photos from mars serve to inspire the curiosity and imagination of countless stargazers

Profile Series:

Digithink - A hot kiwi web design house based in beautiful Taupo, making a success of the Internet as a medium to promote and grow their business.

Igloo - very new to the market, Igloo have a fresh outlook on the virtual tour scene in the New Zealand real estate market

Aardvark Daily, 17 February, 2004

Time for an early Mother's Day

Evil sods are shifting their focus from email-borne payloads to booby-trapped websites that prey on a multitude of vulnerabilities found in older versions of Internet Explorer. What's the best way to fight this menace?

Read Today's Edition!